Rep. DelGobbo Named to Key Committee Assignments

NAUGATUCK—State Representative Kevin M. DelGobbo (R-70th, Naugatuck) today was named ranking House member of the legislature's Energy and Technology Committee for the next two years. He also will serve on the legislature's Finance, Revenue and Bonding Committee and its Public Safety and Homeland Security Committee.

"It is an honor to be appointed to these important assignments," said Rep. DelGobbo. "The reliability of the state's electrical system is at a critical stage. Unless improvements in supply and transmission of electricity are made, the state's economic future is at stake. I hope to work with members of both political parties to address this problem this year."

Regarding the finance committee, Rep. DelGobbo has been one of the strongest voices for fiscal restraint and against one-time, budget-balancing gimmicks that have intensified the state's recurring fiscal problems.

Rep. DelGobbo noted the role of the Public Safety Committee has expanded to include the crucial issue of homeland security that includes protecting Connecticut citizens and their property from terrorism and other dangers.

State Rep. Kevin DelGobbo serves the 70th Assembly District of Naugatuck in the state House of Representatives.
